Tributes

Dad

My Dear Son, I write this to you with eyes filled with tears. Tears of sadness. Tears of sorrow. Tears of uncertainty about tomorrow. Tears of pain. Tears of your shattered dreams.

I do not want to question why this happened to you because I can not get an answer. What I want to believe is that my son, you are safe in The Almighty's presence. My tears are also filled with hope. Hope that your beloved daughter will grow well. Hope that your beautiful daughter will continue with your incomplete story one day. Hope that your mother, brother and sister will always keep you in their hearts. Hope that your wife will manage to accomplish the goals you had together.

I will forever love and miss you, my lovely son.

My promise to you is that I will give a good life to your little girl. She is in safe hands.

Rest Well, My Dear Son. Till We Meet Again.

Mum

Greetings my lovely son. I am yet to come into terms with the reality that I will not hear your voice again. This pains my hurt so much. Your wonderful voice is still fresh in my heart, when you called me 'mam'. When you explained to me how school is, how your little family is doing, your goals and your rough days.

You always gave me solutions when I got challenges. We shared a very good mother and son bond. All through from when I carried you in my womb, for the 22 years.

You made me a proud grandmother when you called me on 4th December at 4:30 am to inform me that I was born. You made me proud that you didn't let go of your responsibilities. You gave my grand daughter the greatest support a father can give to their child. I was happy for the father and husband you had become, despite at a young age.

I am ready for the new task at hand to raise you afresh through your beautiful angel. I will give her my best, for I know, I am raising you.

My dear son, I am satisfied that you are at a safe place. Rest in eternal peace. I love you.

Wife

We had come from far. I believe we are still going far. I know you are not with us physically, but you are always watching over us. I feel your talks each moment. You encouraging me that everything is going to be okay. That sadness is not my portion. That when I am happy, you will do your happy dance move and smile. That if am gloomy, you will not be happy with me. I know you are safe my love. And since I want you to be happy, I will stay happy and with positivity. I will try my very best to avoid stress and overthinking. I will let things flow. I will not be stressed about what tomorrow holds. This is my sincere promise to you. I loved you. I will always love you. I will always love and treasure the lovely gift that you gave me, our daughter Livia. Through her, I see you at all times. She will grow to become the beautiful and smart lady you always prayed for her to be. Rest Easy Babe..

Sister

As your small sister, this news has made me a sad sister. I cannot understand why it had to happen at this time of life.

I am now left with the gifts you bought me when you visited at home during your school holidays. I also remember the days we used to dance and enjoy TikTok challenges. I miss you so much my dear brother.

I am praying for you to rest in peace. You will always be in my heart.

Aunty

My heart was torn apart when I received the sad news of your demise. It is taking me lots of courage to believe that you are no more with us physically. I believe that in spirit, we are together. We are one. We are a family. We are still and will always be together.

It pains me when the memories we shared run through my mind. I recall our last conversation. You made jokes to me after you received your blessing, Livia Njoki Mbiriri. You were filled with joy when you became a father. You flexed as the new father in town. I was very happy for you, my dear nephew.

We made plans on a photoshoot at my place. You kept postponing little did I know it was never meant to be. God had other plans. You were a very skilled and passionate photographer.

I am staying strong for your honor. I want you to rest in peace. Rest in peace Mbiriri. Till we meet again.

John Mbiriri Murcithi

Your Life was a blessing, Your memory a treasure, you are loved beyond words and missed beyond measure
